

Toward a Radical Cure – with a Focus on Diagnosis of Patient’s Defense Level and Treatment of Replacing Electrons

Horiguchi Hiroshi¹

(1) Director of Horiguchi Hospital, Japan

Today, we are not satisfied by achieving medical improvement, but curing the disease. However, traditional western medicine can not solve all of the medical problem, so it is important that we should find the solution to eliminate the “causes of disease”. “Self-defense capability diagnosis” is one of the method to find the causes of disease. In this paper, I am going to illustrate the mechanism and the theory of replacing electrons therapy, which will be popular in the medical field in the near future.